This day is published,

ROWBOTHAM'S WATER-COLOUR DRAWING-BOOK.

By T. L. ROWBOTHAM, Jun.

Member of the New Society of Painters in Water-Colours; Author of "Landscape Painting in Water-Colours," &c. &c.

FOUR PARTS, price 14s. complete; or, Three Shillings and Sixpence each.

The object of this work is to supply what has been long felt to be wanting—a DRAWING-BOOK, containing COLOURED EXAMPLES, for the amateur and young artist, studying WATER-COLOUR PAINTING; in fact, imitative drawings, at the price of ordinary lithographs. Each plate is drawn on stone, by the Artist, and printed by a new process in lithography, to resemble original drawing, and afterwards coloured under the personal superintendence of Mr. Rowbotham.

BUILDINGS AND MONUMENTS,

MODERN AND MEDIÆVAL;

Being Illustrations of the Edifices of the Nineteenth Century, and of some of the Architectural Works of the Middle Ages.

By GEO. GODWIN, F.R.S.,

Fellow of the Institute of Architects; Corresponding Member of several Societies.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The bold and effective woodcuts which have now appeared for some years past in the weekly sheets of our excellent contemporary The Builder, must be familiar to all who are the least interested in architecture. If it were only from the show they make among their fellows of the 'illustrated' press in the window of the newsvendors. It will, we are sure, be very acceptable to such as set a higher value upon these prints than the ephemeral pleasure they give on their first appearance, to have smooth and well-printed impressions at a very moderate price. In the republication now before us with the advantages of glossy ink and tinted paper, they assume a beauty which some persons will be scarcely prepared to respect, who are not fully aware of the great importance of good printing to wood engravings."—Gentleman's Magazine.

"This cheap and handsome re-issue of the principal cuts which have appeared from time to time in The Builder is an exceedingly useful addition to illustrated literature. We know that work is read and purchased by many who have no connection with building; there are, however, a class who are not aware of the value or curiosity of its many engravings, and such persons will, no doubt, avail themselves of this handsome re-issue of them, printed on finer paper, and with greater care, and accompanied with a proper amount of descriptive letter-press."—Art Journal.

"A publication of much merit and interest. The articles are able and sensible, the engravings excellent."—The Literary Gazette.

"The idea of republishing in a separate and handsome form some of the best architectural subjects that have been given in The Builder was a good one. Besides being thus brought together within a comparatively small and convenient compass, separated from miscellaneous matter of only technical or temporary interest,—the woodcuts are so greatly improved in appearance that they scarcely seem to be from the same blocks as before. The even illustrations, as the same number of them, could not have been brought out at the same price had not the blocks been already executed, and had they not served their purpose in a periodical having an assured sale."—The Athenæum.

"Unparalleled in the artistic world for cheapness as well as for utility and beauty of effect." "It is among the cheapest and the best works of the kind ever published."—The Observer.

"The enlightenment be supported by public patronage, for it certainly affords, at a very moderate price, a greater quantity and variety of entertainment to the eye as well as to the mind than has hitherto been afforded by any popular architectural publication. It appears to us a judicious plan, illustrating new buildings, together with others of older date."—The Globe.

"This is a happy idea, most skilfully carried out. Fine printing, and a deep yellow paper, give a most charming effect to these vigorous and faithful illustrations of the edifices of the nineteenth century, and of some of the architectural works of the Middle Ages; and the work will thus worthily fill a gap in pictorial literature—for we have no popular book of consequence on modern architecture. Mediæval structures, moreover, have rarely been more effectively treated."—Gloucestershire Chronicle.

A correct and Artistic View of

fit for framing, price only 1d.

No. 1, York street, Covent-garden. May be obtained through any Bookseller.

Just published, with Twelve Engravings and Seven Woodcuts, royal 8vo., 10s., cloth, defined and illustrated. An elementary work, affording at a single glance a comprehensive View of the History of English Architecture from the Heptarchy to the Reformation.

THE SEVEN PERIODS OF ENGLISH ARCHITECTURE

By EDMUND SHARPE, M.A., Architect.

"The author of one of the noblest architectural works of modern times. His 'Architectural Parallels' is worthy of the best days of art, and shows care and knowledge of so common kind. All his lesser works have been marked in their degree by the same careful and honest spirit. His attempt to disseminate our architecture into periods, and assign to it a new nomenclature is therefore entitled to considerable respect."—Gentleman's Magazine.

GEORGE BELL, 186, Fleet-street.

Now ready.

GOTHIC ORNAMENTS.

By J. K. COLLING, Architect.

In 1 vols. royal 4to., price 7l. 10s. in appropriate cloth binding, containing 200 plates, nearly 10 of which illustrate the existing finely painted and gilt decorations of the Cathedrals and Churches of the Middle Ages. The work may be also had in numbers, price 2s. 6d. to parts, together or separately.

"The completion of this elaborate work affords us an opportunity of doing justice to its great merits. It was necessary to the appreciation of the characteristics and the beauties of Gothic architecture, that some more extensive series of illustrations should be given to the world. Until the appearance of this work, that of Pugin was the only one of any importance and accuracy."—Architectural Quarterly Review.

ANCIENT-HOUSE-FURNITURE

In order to supply the deficiency which has hitherto existed in Furniture suitable for the many Mansions that have been erected or restored in the MEDIÆVAL STYLES, Messrs. CHACE have directed their particular attention to this subject, and have prepared appropriate specimens in the various branches of Furnishing:

STUFFS for HANGINGS, in simple Worsted Damask, in Silk; also in Tapestry of Raudenkin.
CARPETS, plain or in rich Velvet pile, with appropriate Borders.
PAPER-HANGINGS of various kinds.
OAK CABINETS, Buffets, Octagon Library and Occasional Tables, Benches, Chairs, and other useful and appropriate Furniture.

They have also received from Messrs. HARDMAN, of Birmingham, samples of their Metal Work; Chandeliers, Sconces, Candlesticks for Tables, Salons, Flagons, and other Ornaments for Sideboards, after the manner of the Middle Ages.

The whole of the above-mentioned Furniture, &c. is designed after Ancient Authorities, and executed under the immediate superintendence of Mr. A. W. PUGIN, Architect.

To render the Furniture generally available, a considerable portion has been arranged in the simplest manner, consistent with an ancient character.

THE OMBROLOGICAL ALMANAC,

1851, in its Twelfth Year.

By PETER LEGH, Esq., A.M., F.R.A.S.,

Member of the British Meteorological Society, Hon. Fellow of the Institute of British Architects.

The interest expressed as to the weather calculations of the above, owing to its superiority to all others, having first last year fell home right out of 365, with only the ten originally known planets, while it may be learned to some third several of the lunar conjunctions of the eleven recently discovered planets have been traced by the Author through erroneous weather, results at lunar periods alone, before the publication of their ephemerides, which have since proved them, leaving probably few more than the 16th or 17th of April in this year, and corresponding days in other months likely for lunar conjunctions of planets still unknown, makes it necessary to say, the unavoidable cautious delay of astronomers in publishing ephemerides of these planets alone prevent greater advances in this important science, and the publication of an additional analytical essay beyond the condensed observations annually accompanying the Almanac on this interesting subject, though when this barrier is removed, the Author hopes every educated person will be an ombrologist, and exult with himself that these investigations commenced when the brilliant astronomical discoveries of the century came so opportunely in aid.

Booksellers, whom interest in selling to provided for, and the scientific awake to this absorbing subject, for security, should apply for the number of copies they want nearly three months before the time of publication, which, to prevent piracies and the embarrassment with detention, so injurious to science, is not till December in each year. Of course, from the mass of [illegible] facts, &c., can only be inserted in a condensed form, so that every respectable almanac seller is interested in selling this with his own, to distinct in the papers.—Price to the public 1s.
